Technical Data

Colour Advertisements: European Scale DIN 16539.

If the primary colour black is not used in the colour advertisements, this does not affect the cost calculation. Special colours or shades which cannot be created out of the basic colour range will be separately calculated (details given on request). Slight variations in shade may occur within normal tolerances of the printing process. Discounts are given on additional colours.

Advertisement Types: Differences are made between print space ads and trimmed ads (or also bleed advertisements and trimmed). Print space ads do not come in contact with the edges of the page, but are placed in varying size within the print space. Trimmed ads on the other hand touch one or more edges of a page and therefore need 5 mm on all sides for trimming. This is technically defined due to the fact that the magazine is trimmed to its final size after the printing process is complete.

Print Space Ads: For all advertisement sizes please see the table on page 4. When designing your advertisement you may use your preferred size to its full extent. Do not add bleed space.

Trimmed Ads: An additional 5 mm should be added to each side of a trimmed ad, whether it touches an edge or the binding. This is to compensate for the trimming process. Important contents should be kept 10 mm away from the trimming edge.

Bleed Ads: Ads that run through double pages must have a special layout. The visual restriction arises due to the bend in the magazine at the binding; a section of the motif is absorbed into the binding. This must be taken into consideration when designing and choosing the layout of your advertisement. It is very important to remember that there has to be a 3 mm repetition of the motif (motif overlap) per page, i.e. if there is the possibility that a picture runs through the binding, it has to be placed 3 mm away from the binding, while at the same time leaving no white edge along the inside edge. In addition to this, the usual 5 mm trimming edge must also remain the same. Text that runs through the binding must also be separated by 3 mm along the inside edge. Both sides of a double page advertisement must be sent as single pages.

Please remember that all other relevant ad components must be placed 10 mm away from binding and the edges.

You will appreciate that the publisher cannot and may not correct sent data without authority.

If you wish to use the same advertisement in several different magazines (they generally have slight variations in sizes), then the smallest advertisement size for the magazine in question is applicable to the size of your ad. The majority of motifs can be easily enlarged, however, when reducing the ad there is a risk that relevant ad components will be lost during the trimming process.

Delivery of Data: Fundamentally, all advertisements must be sent as a high resolution Print PDF file in the PDF/X standard (please request our detailed instructions for the necessary Acrobat Distiller settings).

If you deliver open data (source files) in the software standards listed to the right, this will cause additional work and extra costs. Please send files with all fonts and correctly placed links!

General Terms and Conditions

These conditions are a translation from German into English. In case of dissension or dispute the German version applies.

1. An „Advertising Order“ for the purposes of the following General Terms and Conditions is the contract for the publication of one or more advertisements of an advertiser or other publicity agent in a publication for distribution.
2. In case of doubt, advertisements have to be published within one year of the conclusion of contract, the right has been granted for the publication of individual advertisements, then all advertisements must be published within one year of the date of the appearance of the first advertisement, insofar as the first advertisement has been published within the time-limit referred to above.
3. The advertiser is entitled, within the agreed time-limit or the time-limit referred to in paragraph 2, to publish further advertisements over and above the quantity stated in the order.
4. If an order is not fulfilled for reasons beyond the publisher's control, then the advertiser, without consideration of any legal obligations, must refer to the publisher the difference between the discount granted and the discount corresponding to the actual volume of advertising placed. The refund will not apply where non-fulfilment is due to force majeure within the publisher's area of risk.
5. This relates to classified advertisements and is not applicable.
6. Orders requesting the publication of advertisements and inserts in specific issues, specific numbers or in specific positions within the periodical must be received by the publisher within sufficient time before the advertisement closing date of the issue concerned to enable the publisher to advise the advertiser in the event of it not being possible to fulfil the latter's request.
7. The 1st paragraph relates to classified advertisements within an editorial column and is not applicable.
8. The publisher reserves the right to reject orders for which a legally binding confirmation has been given, and also single advertisements within the scope of a contract, on the grounds of content, origin or technical form, if the content thereof is contrary to laws or regulations of public authorities, or where publication thereof cannot reasonably be demanded by the publisher. This also applies to orders placed with branch offices, at counters or with representatives of the publisher: Insert orders only become binding on the publisher after submission of a specimen of the insert and approval thereof. Inserts which, by reason of their form or layout give the reader the impression that they form part of the newspaper or periodical or which contain advertising matter of third parties, shall not be accepted. Rejection of an order will be notified to the advertiser forthwith.

9. The advertiser is responsible for ensuring prompt delivery of the advertisement copy and faultless copy material or inserts. The publisher will forthwith request replacements where the copy material is obviously unsuitable or damaged. The publisher guarantees the usual printing quality for the publication reserved within the scope of the possibilities afforded by the copy material.
10. Where the printed advertisement is wholly or partly illegible, incorrectly or incompletely printed, the advertiser will be entitled to a reduction in payment or a perfect replacement advertisement, but only insofar as the purpose of the advertisement has been prejudiced. If the publisher fails to comply within a reasonable period or if the replacement advertisement is not perfect, the advertiser will be entitled to a reduction in the amount of payment, or to withdraw from the contract. Claims for compensation due to positive infringement of the stipulations of the contract, negligence in the completion of the contract and unlawful actions are excluded, ven in the event of placing of the contract via the telephone; claims for compensation in respect of impossibility of completion of the contract and default are limited to the restitution of the foreseeable damages and to the amount payable for the advertisement or insert under consideration. This does not apply in the event of the intentional and gross negligence on the part of the publisher, his legal representatives or employees. The liability of the publisher for damages due to the absence of guaranteed quality remains unaffected.

In the event of contracts with commercial organisations, the publisher is additionally also not responsible for gross negligence on the part of employees who are not empowered to act as executives; in all other cases the extent of liability arising out of gross negligence is limited to the extent of the foreseeable damages up to the amount payable for the advertisement under consideration. Complaints, apart from damages which are not obvious, must be made within four weeks of receipt of the invoice and voucher copy.

11. Proofs will only be supplied if expressly requested. The advertiser will be responsible for the accuracy of the returned proofs. The publisher will take account of all corrections communicated to him within the time-limit notified when the proofs are sent.
12. If no particular instructions are given regarding dimensions, then, according to the nature of the advertisement the dimensions will be calculated on the basis of the actual printed size.

13. Where the advertiser does not make an advance payment, the invoice will be dispatched immediately or at the latest within fourteen days of publication of the advertisement. The invoice is payable within the time-limit indicated in the rate card, calculated from the date of receipt of the invoice, except where, in individual cases some other period is allowed for payment or payment in advance is agreed upon. Discounts for early payment will be allowed according to the rate card.

14. In the event of any delay in payment or any deferment, interest will be charged according to the rate card, as will the cost of collection. Where there is delay in payment, the publisher may defer further execution of the current order until payment is received and demand payment in advance for the remaining advertisements. Where there are justified doubts regarding the solvency of the advertiser, the publisher will be entitled, even during the term of an agreement for advertising, to make the publication of further advertisements, irrespective of any payment conditions originally agreed upon, dependent on the advance payment of the amount thereof and the settlement of all invoiced amounts outstanding.

15. On request, the publisher will supply with the invoice a voucher copy of the advertisement. If it is no longer possible to obtain a voucher, then its place will be taken by a legally binding certificate from the publisher regarding the publication and distribution of the advertisement.

16. The advertiser will be required to bear the costs of preparing any printing blocks, matrices and drawings ordered, and also of any applicable amendments desired by the advertiser to any originally agreed orders.

17. Where there is a reduction in the circulation, a claim for a reduction in the price will be entertained in the case of an order for a number of advertisements if the average circulation for the calendar year which the rate card is based on or elsewhere stated average circulation is less than the average circulation for the previous calendar year. If, however, the circulation is not stated the average sales figures are the reference (in the case of specialist magazines the audited average is applicable).

A reduction in the circulation will only become a defect justifying a reduction in price if:

with a circulation of up to	50,000 copies amounts to	20 %
with a circulation of up to	100,000 copies amounts to	15 %
with a circulation of up to	500,000 copies amounts to	10 %
with a circulation of more than	500,000 copies amounts to	5 %

Additionally, there will be no entitlement to any reduction in the prices for orders where the publishers have given the advertiser notice of the reduction in the circulation sufficiently early to enable the latter to withdraw from the contract before the advertisement appears.

18. In the case of box numbers, the publisher employs the accuracy of a business professional regarding the storage and transfer of offers. Registered letters and express letters concerning box numbers will be forwarded by regular post. Receipts of box numbers will only be retained for a period of four weeks. Letters that have not been obtained within the aforementioned period will be destroyed.

The publisher will send back valuable documentation, even though they are not required to do so. The publisher reserves the right to release detailed offers for examination, in the interest and protection of the advertiser, to eliminate any doubts of misuse of the service-numbers. The publisher is not required to transfer business sales prices and procurement offers.

19. Copy material will only be sent back on the specific request of the advertiser. The obligation to retain copy material will terminate 3 months following the conclusion of contract.

20. Place of performance is the registered office of the publisher. In the event of legal action, the governing jurisdiction for commercial transactions with business persons, corporate bodies under public law or public funds is the registered office of the publisher. Insofar that the publisher's requirements regarding payment collection procedures are not enforced, the jurisdiction of the non-business persons place of residence is applicable.

In the event of the domicile or ordinary residence of the advertiser not being known at the date of issue of proceedings, and in the event of the advertiser, after the contract has been concluded, moving his domicile or ordinary place of residence outside the jurisdiction of the law, the place of the registered office of the publisher is agreed as being the place of competent jurisdiction.
